National Team & Work Group Contact / Participation Overview

Purpose

This working document provides one overview of the people serving in the National GCN Core Team, the wider Network Team, and the eight National GCN Work Groups. The National Core Team and Network Team together form the National GCN Facilitating Team. It is designed to support team building, communication, representation, follow-up and multiplication during the Initial Phase and ongoing collaboration.

TOGETHER: ONE NATIONAL GCN FACILITATING TEAM
Serving the national Great Commission process

Functional distinction, not hierarchy — one team serving the wider Body of Christ

The National Core Team carries the main facilitating roles. Each Core Team Facilitator / Co-Facilitator then develops the corresponding wider Work Group with representative practitioners, leaders and specialists.

The Network Team broadens participation with additional national leaders, regional or movement representatives, emerging leaders, advisors, specialists and support roles.

Emerging and Female Leaders

Special attention should be given to identifying, encouraging and including emerging and younger leaders, as well as women leaders, throughout the Core Team, Network Team and Work Groups. They should be invited to contribute according to their calling, gifts, experience and relationships, with opportunities to grow in responsibility, facilitation and leadership. This strengthens representation, supports intergenerational collaboration and helps prepare the GCN for sustainable multiplication.

Geographic representation should be considered intentionally when building the National Core Team, Network Team and Work Groups. In larger nations, it may be practical and helpful for much of the Core Team to be located in or near the capital or another central hub, making regular facilitation, communication and coordination easier. At the same time, meaningful representation from different regions, states or provinces, districts, cities, movements and language communities remains important and helpful so that national discernment, ownership and implementation reflect the wider nation.

International Participation

International GCN members may be invited to participate in the Network Team or an appropriate Work Group where their relationships, experience, perspective, or expertise can strengthen the national process. GCN is not only a national initiative but part of the global Body of Christ. We help one another across nations to fulfil the Great Commission.

International members can contribute valuable insights, lessons learned, tools, encouragement, prayer, and connections from other contexts. Their different perspectives and experience can help the national team identify new opportunities and avoid unnecessary limitations. They participate as partners who support and strengthen national leadership—not as those who direct or control the national process. Their involvement should be relational, context-sensitive, and aligned with the priorities identified by the national GCN team.

The lists can be updated as additional people, regions, denominations, networks, generations, people groups and spheres are connected.

C. National GCN Work Groups

After the Core Team and wider Network Team are identified, each Work Group is developed from the corresponding Core Team facilitating area. A Work Group normally includes the Facilitator, Co-Facilitator and a wider representative team of practitioners, leaders and specialists. A starting size of approximately 7-20 people per Work Group allows meaningful national representation while remaining relational and workable. It is recommended that each Work Group appoint a Work Group Administrator who handles meeting minutes and notes, contact information, team communication and practical follow-up, thereby supporting the Facilitator and Co-Facilitator.

D. National GCN Advisory Team

The Advisory Team consists of respected senior church and ministry, workplace and agriculture, society and community, mission and specialist leaders who provide prayer, wisdom, counsel, credibility and strategic perspective. Advisors do not carry day-to-day facilitating responsibility or operational authority, and attendance at regular GCN meetings is not required. They may participate in GCN meetings when appropriate, be invited to offer endorsements, and should ideally meet with the Facilitating Team at least once per year for prayer, review, counsel and strategic reflection. The Advisory Team may also be added later and developed progressively over time. It provides a suitable way to involve key leaders and experts who do not wish to participate in the Network Team but are willing to offer advice, share their experience, or recommend and endorse GCN where appropriate.
